WASHINGTON, June 23, 1869.

CUBAN AFFAIRS

Have not yet been the subject of consultation, although occasionally a theme of conversation merely in the Cabinet, nor, according to the present aspect, is it probable any official action will soon be taken with regard to affairs in that island. The Government has no information to show that the opposing forces in Cuba have ever met in open field, but that what little fighting has been done amounts to nothing more than skirmishing. The operations have been confined to a few local points, with no marked political results, and the Cubans have not yet succeeded in establishing themselves on a single spot. Therefore, as no case is presented which calls for the recognition of belligerent rights, no member of the Cabinet has expressed a desire for or hinted action in that direction. It is no secret that the Spanish Minister has been informed, that although the Government and people of the country sympathize with the Cubans, the neutrality laws will be enforced, and as a proof of the honesty of the Government in executing them, the Spanish Minister has been placed in direct communication with United States attorneys and marshals, so he can furnish them with information, accompanied by proof, relative to secret military expeditions, in order that they may be promptly dealt with. Instructions were given months ago to intercept the sailing of hostile vessels. The recent arrests in New York were made on information furnished to Federal officers there through the Spanish Minister. The cause of this action was owing to open boasting by Cubans of their success in landing men and arms on the Island. The Government has been selling surplus arms to all parties, without distinction, asking no questions as to their future use.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The following was received at the Indian Bureau this morning:

Office of the Superintendent of Indian Affairs, Lawrence, Kansas, Sixth month, Nineteenth day.—To Hon. E. S. Parker: A party from Gen. Hazen arrived at Ellsworth on the 12th instant and will return to-morrow, taking down Agent Darlington to Cheyenne Reserve. They report no danger from hostile Indians, as none were seen coming up. Two men were killed twenty miles north of Salina, at Minneapolis, near the Solomon, on the 13th, and several Indians were seen south of the railroad on the 14th inst.

[Signed.] ENOCH HOAG,
Superintendent.

MINISTER WEBB.

It is stated that ex-Minister Webb had an interview yesterday with Secretary Fish on the Brazilian Government. He denounces the authorities there, and says they have no more respect for the United States than for Hayti. He thinks we ought to give them a good thrashing in consequence. It is understood the President fully endorses the course pursued by Mr. Webb. It appears that he was simply carrying out the instructions given him by Mr. Seward. It is presumed that the Brazilian Government will make ample apology to our Government on the arrival of Mr. Blow, Mr. Webb's successor.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President has appointed John F. Harper Collector of Internal Revenue of the 8th District of Illinois, and George D. Montague, Collector of Internal Revenue in Pennsylvania. Thomas Miller, of Ohio, has been appointed Agent of Sacs and Foxes, and Martin Stubbs, of Kansas, Agent of the Kaw Indians. Joseph F. Cook, colored, brother of the recently elected register of Washington City, was to-day appointed to a first-class clerkship in the General Revenue office.

CADET APPOINTMENTS.

The President has determined upon the appointment of eight Cadets at large to West Point Academy, which, with two heretofore named, completes the list of ten constituting his quota. The Secretary of War is now preparing commissions for the new appointees. The other appointments, one from each Congressional district, will also be announced in a few days. The Cadets will not enter the Academy until next Summer.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

Gen. Walker, Deputy Commissioner of Revenue, reports the imports for the nine months ending the 31st March, '69, at $363,598,503, exports, $295,724,156, and re-exports, $15,919,463, against imports $269,956,046, exports, $332,075,153 and re-exports $15,520,114 for a similar period ending March 31st, 1868. About two-thirds of the imports and exports were in foreign vessels. The value of foreign commodities in warehouse March 31st, 1869, was $40,450,409.

DEAF MUTE COLLEGE.

The first commencement of the National Deaf Mute College took place this morning in the Congregational Church in this city. The performances of the graduates were received with great interest and favor by a very large audience. In addition to conferring the degree of A. B. upon graduates, the Faculty conferred the degree of A. M. on two distinguished deaf mutes.

CROP REPORTS.

The Agricultural Department Report for May and June shows a high average condition of wheat and good prospects of an abundant crop, if no casualties occur before or after harvest. Rye, barley and other grains are generally in fine condition. The largest increase is in barley, and in the States west of the Mississippi.

MINISTER MOTLEY'S INSTRUCTIONS.

It has been ascertained from an official source that there is no disagreement, as reported, between Senator Sumner and Secretary Fish relative to the instructions to Minister Motley, which the former has seen, and, besides, the social relations of these gentlemen continue friendly.

ST. LOUIS.

The July Interest Robbery—John Mitchell, the Irish Patriot—5,000 Chinamen for Southern Plantations—Ocean Steamer Project—Capt. Donaldson Acquitted of Murder.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—The entire correspondence between the State Auditor and State Treasurer and the Attorney General, in regard to the payment of the State interest in gold will be published to-morrow, accompanied by a statement from the Auditor and Treasurer that the correspondence was given out under a law which provides that copies of all papers and documents on file in the Auditor's office shall be given to any applicant for them. They further state that they never made any such representation or authorized any such statements in regard to the payment of interest in coin as were made editorially in the New York Evening Post. Governor McClurg also made a statement that the very first information or intimation he had of the matter was derived from the St. Louis papers of the 21st inst.

John Mitchell arrived here to-day, and will speak on Friday evening on the Disestablishment of the Irish Church.

The agent of the St. Louis and Chicago Railroad received a dispatch to-day, directing him to procure transportation to New Orleans for five thousand Chinamen, who are going on Southern plantations as laborers.

Several persons arrived here to-day only five days from San Francisco.

The project of bringing an ocean steamer from New York to St. Louis has so far progressed that ten thousand dollars have been raised as a guarantee fund against loss, and Captain Jas. Brown will start for New York to-morrow to charter a vessel. River pilots will accompany her from New York to New Orleans and take charge of her there. Capt. Joe Barker will command her.

Judge Lackland, counsel for defense in the Donaldson case, began to speak at 10:30 this morning and finished at five this evening. He opened by laying down the principles of the law governing criminal and civil prosecutions, pointing out the differences between them, and laid much stress upon the fact that the criminal law rests upon the idea that it is better for ninety-nine guilty men to go unpunished than that one innocent man should suffer. Hence it is the rule that if the jury entertain a reasonable doubt of the guilt of the accused, he is entitled to the benefit of that doubt. He then proceeded to review and comment on the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution. He said no one but Ray and Glover had sworn to anything to inculpate Donaldson, and he would endeavor to convince the jury that these men were not entitled to belief at all. He would impeach their testimony in three modes: first, by their inconsistency with each other, second, by their inconsistency with themselves, and third, by their general bad characters. He elaborated these propositions very ably and made one of the best speeches ever made in our criminal court. He proceeded upon the theory that Glover and Ray committed the murder, and charged it upon Donaldson. He claimed that the defense had shown that Donaldson was not on the boat at the time of the shooting, and that unimpeachable witnesses had proved the fact. He drew a fine picture of the amiable and noble character of the accused, and said it was impossible for such a man to commit such a crime, unless he had suddenly become possessed of the devil.

Charles P. Johnson, Circuit Attorney followed Judge Lackland, beginning at at 5:30, and made a very powerful effort. He showed that Ray, who was now accused of being a bad character, had been employed by Donaldson himself in a responsible position, and that Glover and Ray had made statements that bore unmistakable marks of truth. It was an utter impossibility for them to fabricate the story they related. He exposed the bad logic of the defense, in charging the crime upon Ray and Glover. If they were the murderers, why had Donaldson's lawyers run them away to Canada and across the sea to prevent them from testifying? If Donaldson was not on the boat when the murder was committed, why did they not bring witnesses to prove where he was?

The jury retired at 11 o'clock and after about three quarters of an hour returned with a verdict of "not guilty." The announcement was received with great cheering from the crowd present, and Mrs. Donaldson, who was with her husband, fainted.

—The third annual meeting of the National Curling Convention was held at Buffalo on Wednesday. After the usual preliminary business, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, David Bell, of Buffalo; Vice Presidents, Alex. Dalyruple, of New York, and John Stephens, of Jersey City; Secretary and Treasurer, George Malone, of Buffalo. Patterson, New Jersey, was selected as the next place of holding the annual meeting. George Malone was presented with a valuable gold watch and the surplus funds of the Convention. The members of the Convention will play a game of quoits at Fort Erie to-day.

—The Executive Committee of the Peace Jubilee Association, at Boston, have decided to repeat the programme of the 17th of June for the personal benefit of the projector, Mr. P. S. Gilmore, at the Coliseum on Tuesday next. The full orchestra and chorus, Adelaide Phillips, Parepa Rosa, Ole Bull and others will be present. This is done in obedience to a general demand and in appreciation of Mr. Gilmore's great services to art and to Boston.

—At Franklin, Va., an affray occurred Tuesday evening, in which a negro was mortally shot by a white man named Holland. Some negroes collected and attempted to force an entrance into Holland's house, but were driven off. A few hours later they fired and totally destroyed the saw mill and lumber yard of Neally Brothers, whose loss is estimated at $20,000.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Gov. Geary Renominated.

H. W. WILLIAMS FOR SUPREME JUDGE.

Enthusiastic Demonstration.

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.

Ratification Meeting Last Night.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1869.

The delegates to the Republican State Convention, for the nomination of Governor and Judge of the Supreme Court, assembled this morning at Concert Hall. The Hall was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting. The portion set apart for spectators was well filled.

Hon. G. A. Grow, Chairman of the State Central Committee, called the Convention to order at half-past ten o'clock. He addressed the Convention in a brief and happy speech, after which the roll of delegates was called.

Hon. Henry Souther, of Elk county, was nominated temporary Chairman, and unanimously elected. Temporary Secretaries were then chosen. A Committee of Five on Credentials was next appointed; also a Committee of Thirty-three on Permanent Organization.

It was agreed that a Committee of one from each Senatorial District be selected by the delegates to prepare resolutions, and that all resolutions should be referred to this Committee without debate.

The Convention then adjourned until two o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At two o'clock the delegates began reassembling, and at twenty minutes thereafter the Convention was again called to order.

The report of the Committee on Credentials was first in order. The Chairman of this Committee being absent when called on for his report, the Convention awaited his return.

Pending his appearance, the delegate from Westmoreland sent the following resolution to the Chairman:

Resolved, That Hon. G. A. Grow, in the discharge of his duties as Chairman of the State Central Committee, and for his untiring labors in behalf of Republican ideas and principles, is entitled to the gratitude of the Republican party.

After some discussion the resolution was allowed to be read and was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. Grow replied to it in a few words of thanks.

At this point the report of the Committee on Organization was called for, when Mr. Mahlon H. Dickinson, its Chairman, read the name of J. L. Graham, of Allegheny county, for Chairman of the Convention. The announcement was hailed with applause. The remainder of the officers were then read.

Nominations for Governor were made as follows: General John W. Geary, Gen. Horace M. Porter, Geo. V. Lawrence, of Washington county, Gen. Harry White, of Indiana county, Gen. William Lilly, of Carbon county, Gen. George G. Meade, of Philadelphia, Hon. Thos. M. Marshall, of Allegheny county, Hon. James S. Negley, of Allegheny county. The nominations were then closed.

The names of Messrs. Lawrence, White, Marshall and Negley were at once withdrawn.

A motion was offered to confirm the nomination of Gen. Geary by acclamation. Objected to, and cries for a ballot.

The roll was then called, and the vote resulted as follows: Geary, 122; Porter, 1; Lilly, 6; Meade, 4. The clerks agreed in their tally and the result was announced by the Chairman, who concluded by saying "Gen. John W. Geary having a majority of all the votes cast, is hereby declared the nominee of this Convention for Governor of Pennsylvania." A scene of wild confusion and delirious excitement ensued. Delegates, officers and auditors rose to their feet, shouted in hurras to each other, tossed their hats in the air, jumped on the benches in the excess of their gratification, and made the hall echo with their loud and long continued cheers.

A motion was then made to declare the nomination unanimous. The Chairman put it, when a single voice responded "no."

A motion was then made that a Committee of five be appointed to inform Governor Geary of the voice of the Convention. The following were appointed: Henry Souther, Capt. Chas. W. Batchelor, G. A. Grow, John Coryll and M. H. Dickinson.

Nominations for Judge of the Supreme Court were then declared in order. Judge H. W. Williams, of Allegheny county, was named. The nominations were closed. Judge Williams was then declared the nominee of the Convention for Judge of the Supreme Court by acclamation. Another scene of cheering followed.

A Committee was then appointed to apprise him of the action of the Convention.

The following platform was adopted:

Resolved, That we rejoice in the glorious national victory of 1868, which is bringing peace, happiness and prosperity to us as a nation.

Resolved, That we wholly approve of the principles and policy of the administration of General Grant, and we heartily endorse every sentiment contained in his inaugural address, and especially do hereby ratify and approve the late amendment proposed by Congress to the Constitution of the United States and known as the Fifteenth Amendment.

Resolved, That we have confidence that the general administration will will wisely and firmly protect the interests and dignity of the nation in respect to our just claims against Great Britain, and that we endorse the action of the Senate in rejecting the Johnson Clarendon treaty, known as the Alabama claims.

Resolved, That we heartily sympathize with the struggling people of all nations in their efforts to attain universal freedom and the inalienable rights of man.

Resolved, That we confidently endorse the administration of General John W. Geary as wise, economical and honest, and that it deserves, as it has received, the approval of the people of Pennsylvania; and we especially commend his uniform efforts to restrain the evil of special legislation.

Resolved, That in Hon. Henry W. Williams, our candidate for the Supreme Court, we present a learned, pure and patriotic gentleman, who will adorn the high position to which we propose to elect him.

Resolved, That we reiterate and affirm our adherence to the doctrince of protection, as proclaimed in the ninth resolution of the platform adopted at the State Convention, March 7, 1866.

Resolved, That we endorse the ticket this day nominated, and pledge to it our hearty and candid support.

Resolved, That the Chairman of the Convention is hereby authorized to appoint a Chairman of the Central Committee on the joint recommendation of the candidates this day nominated, and that the State Central Committee shall consist during the coming campaign of the same number of delegates from each county as the last Committee, and they shall be appointed by the Senatorial and Representative districts, except Allegheny, which shall have eight members.

The Governor was introduced to the Convention, which he addressed at some length, and retired amid enthusiastic applause.

The ratification meeting at Concert Hall was well attended. The speakers were Geo. H. Stuart, Chairman, Ex-Gov. Pollock, Wayne McVeigh, Col. Frank Jordan and Hon. John Cessna. J.

Republican State Convention—Nominations Made—Resolutions Adopted.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, June 23.—The Republican State Convention organized permanently at 2 o'clock, P. M., John Sherman presiding, E. A. Parrott, Secretary, and one Vice President and Secretary from each district. The nominations are: Governor R. B. Hays; Lieutenant Governor, J. C. Lee; Treasurer, S. S. Warren; Supreme Judge, Luther Day; Attorney General, Colonel F. B. Pond, of Morgan; Board of Public Works, Richard R. Porter, of Stark.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

1st. Resolved, That as citizens of the nation, representing the Republican sentiment of an honored commonwealth, we regard with sincere satisfaction the fidelity evinced by General Grant to the Republican party, and the policy, both foreign and domestic, of his national administration, and pledge our cordial support to the measures inaugurated to insure conciliation, economy and justice at home and command consideration and respect abroad.

2d. That we hear with pride the patriotic and constitutional declaration of General Grant, on his inaugural address, that while he will in all subjects have a policy to recommend to Congress, he will have none to enforce against the will of the people—a sentiment which assures the country of an executive administration founded on the administration of Washington and Madison, and that will secure to Congress the unrestricted exercise of its constitutional functions, and to the people their rightful control of the Government.

3d. That the abolition of slavery was a natural and necessary consequence of the war of the rebellion, and that the reconstruction measures of Congress were measures well adapted to effect the reconstruction of the Southern States and secure the blessings of liberty and a free government, and as a completion of those measures, and fully believing in its essential justice, we are in favor of the ratification of the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

4th. That the late Democratic General Assembly, in its reckless expenditures of the public money; its utter neglect of the business interests of the State, by failing to enact the wise and much needed financial measures providing for the assessment and equalization of taxation, prepared by the Commission appointed by the preceding General Assembly; its hostility to our benevolent and literary institutions; its failure to carry out the repeated pledges of the Democratic party to secure economy in the State; its extraordinary length of session in time of peace, resulting in an expense to the State, amounting for the pay of its members alone to more than double that of the preceding General Assembly; its malignant attempts to disfranchise disabled soldiers and citizens of the state; its attempt to take from the general government the right to pursue, arrest and punish those who violate the laws made in pursuance of the Constitution of the United States, and the vicious acts intended to destroy the power of the nation to preserve and protect the liberty and safety of its citizens, has shown the Democratic party unworthy of the trust, confidence and support of an honest and patriotic people.

5th. That the Republican party of Ohio is in favor of the speedy establishment of a Soldiers' Orphans Home in Ohio, not only as an act of justice to the many poor and helpless orphans of deceased soldiers, but as a recognition of the patriotic services of their fathers in the late war, and for the purpose of redeeming the pledges made by all loyal people to protect the families of those who fought and fell in the cause of human liberty and right.

The State Central Committee appointed is as follows: First District, A. C. Sands; Second, D. S. Wright; Third, Chas. F. Brooks; Fourth, Wm. B. McClury; Fifth, Jas. S. Robinson; Sixth, Chambers Baird; Seventh, J. D. Stine; Eighth, P. B. Cole; Ninth, F. E. Foster; Tenth, Alex. Reed; Eleventh, General D. F. Coates; Twelfth, General S. H. Hurst; Thirteenth, C. B. Griffin; Fourteenth, Colonel A. K. McClure; Fifteenth, Hon. Samuel S. Knowles; Sixteenth, Live Sargent; Seventeenth, J. K. Rukenbrod; Eighteenth, August Hume; Nineteenth, Colonel Jas. M. Nash.

After adopting the resolutions Governor Hays was introduced and made a speech which was enthusiastically received. The Convention was fully attended and very harmonious. Adjourned at 4 P. M.

The State Central Committee met this evening and appointed Col. J. S. Robinson, of Harden county, Chairman, and Rodney Foos, Secretary. They elected the following Executive Committee, to be located at the Capital: R. D. Harrison, Chairman; Rodney Foos, Secretary; S. S. Warren, Treasurer; E. T. Hall, W. R. Thrall, Jno. O. Howard, Wm. Dennison.

Watch Presentation.

Quite an interesting affair came off yesterday at the American House, Jos. McKee proprietor, First avenue. The stockholders and crew of the steamer Elizabeth, assembled at the above place and presented Mr. James Irwin, first clerk of the boat, with a splendid gold watch and chain. The presentation speech was made by Mr. James Rees, of this city. Mr. Irwin replied in a few brief remarks. He was very much surprised, as he knew nothing of the affair until he was called on to receive the present. The occasion was enlivened by a few well-timed toasts and compliments to the worthy recipient, after which the party sat down to a splendid dinner. Mr. Irwin might be said to be the veteran clerk, as he has served in that capacity for twenty-one years for the same Company. The watch, which was a fine American lever, manufactured by the United States Watch Company, was purchased at the establishment of W. G. Dunseath, 56 Fifth avenue.

Law vs. Force.

We do not propose to go into a metaphysical disquisition upon the question of law against force, but merely to relate a case in which one was arraigned against the other, and promise to give the result of the contest when it is determined.

Jeremiah, James and Marcus Force and Henry Sullivan, it is alleged, are in the lottery business in this city, and a few days since, H. W. McKee, of Birmingham, alleges that he purchased a number of lottery tickets from them. Mr. McKee, we presume, failed to draw a prize, and, as men usually do under such circumstances, came to the conclusion that the affair was a swindle, whereupon he appeared before Justice Lipp, of Birmingham, yesterday, and made information charging the parties named with selling lottery tickets, which under the laws of this State is a penal offence. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the accused and so far the law has the upper hand of force, but a hearing may change the status of affairs.

WILLIAM RAY and his wife, an old couple, aged 74 and 77, respectively, who live in Marion county, Illinois, were tied in bed last Wednesday, at midnight, by some masked robbers, and all their money, four hundred dollars in coin, and three hundred in greenbacks, carefully saved, was carried off. The old people were so securely tied, that the cords cut almost to the bone, and they were only released after eight hours by the accidental visit of a neighbor. One of the robbers, named Erwin, was recognized by his voice by the old lady, and arrested.

—Mrs. Nichols, wife of Dr. W. L. Nichol, and daughter of Jno. J. Fackler, of Huntsville, Alabama, shot herself accidentally yesterday, at Nashville, with her husband's pistol, which she had taken from the mantlepice to put away. The ball entered the lower part of her throat, front, and passed out through the spinal column behind. Her body was instantly paralyzed, and the wound was regarded as fatal.

—The trial of Dyonisius E. Bremen, indicted as a participator in the Royal insurance bond robbery in New York, December 10th, 1866, is in progress at Binghamton. He is alleged to have been concerned in the robberies as a receiver of stolen goods. The defendant's counsel expect to prove an alibi.

—Watermelons and Peaches have made their appearance in the Memphis market at fabulous prices.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

"Ah! we love each other well;
Better far than words can tell,"
Said my charmer—"but in vain
Are my efforts to explain
How it happened! Tell me now,
Dearest, of the why and how!
Since the fact we cannot doubt,
Tell me how it came about."
Well, my darling, I will try
To explain the how and why,
(Speaking for myself—not you;
That, of course, I cannot do.)
Not your (brilliant) mind alone
Could have thus enthralled my own:
Not the charm of every grace
Beaming from your sunny face;
Not your voice—though music be
Less melodious to me;
Not your kisses—sweeter far
Than the drops of Hybla are;
None of these, from each apart
Could have so enchained my heart;
Nay, not e'en the wondrous whole
Could have fixed my wayward soul;
Had not love—your love—prevailed,
All the rest had surely failed!
There! you have the reason, dear;
Is the explanation clear?

—An exchange says, ten pairs of twins have come to the light in Clay county, Mo., within the past fortnight. Now, as twins consist of two children, a pair of twins must necessarily be four children, and ten pairs of twins would consequently be forty children, but ten pairs are twenty and twenty twins would probably mean twenty children who are twins, so that our exchange, by its ambiguous wording, leaves us in serious doubt as to whether one score or two score children were added to the pepulation of Clay county.

THE Rochester Chronicle has been told a new story about General Butler. The directors of a Boston bank, having their suspicions aroused, notified their cashier that an examination of the books and cash in his possession must be had. The cashier went to Butler and stated his case. He had misappropriated funds of the bank to the amount of $50,000. He asked whether he had not better own up, restore what he could, and let his bondsmen make up the deficit. Butler, after some consideration, directed him to attend the meeting of directors, deny that there was anything wrong, and, if they desired, to surrender the keys and go home, leaving them in possession. He did as directed, gave up the keys, and the directors, upon examining the books and cash in the vaults, found a deficit, as they anticipated, of $50,000. They notified the cashier and his bondsmen, who in due time appeared, accompanied by Butler, who, acting as spokesman, inquired what the matter was. The directors informed him of the facts, and offered to compromise the matter by the return of the missing funds. Gen. Butler coolly replied that his client had surrendered the keys to them, and that the deficit, if any, occurred after the directors were in possession. The directors now began to see the dilemma in which they were placed and sent for a lawyer, only to find that they had made a false step; that they had no proper evidence of the amount of cash in the bank when surrendered by the cashier, and that in taking possession they had lost their only remedy. As it would not do to let the stockholders know how they had been overreached, the directors had to go to work and make up the loss out of their own pockets. They gave the defaulting cashier the certificate of character which he demanded, and he went to work in another bank, in the same city, a few weeks afterward.

CLIPPINGS.

A MAN in North Adams, Mass., has obtained a patent for a skating rod and stool. It consists of a rod so constructed that when extended, it may be used as a balancing pole or skating rod, and when closed as a seat.

THERE has been discovered near Knob Noster, in Missouri, a vein of red and yellow ochre, said to be about two feet and a half in thickness. The yellow specimens have been prepared for use and pronounced equal to any ochre in the market.

OPERA BOUFFE has finally expired at New York, after an existence of about two years, and nearly all the leading artists have gone home to Paris. The stars received a salary of from $800 to $1,000 per month, and other members of the company $250.

M. F. MASSET, M. D. of Quincy, Ill., has gained the best results in the treatment of asthma by a combination of antispasmodic expectorants. This is introduced by means of the atomizer and the inhalation of medical spray; it can be directly applied to all parts of the air passages or respiratory organs.

JOHN H. WEEDEN, of Waterbury, Connecticut, has invented "an improved head rest for attachment to church pews, formed by the combination of the stuffing, covering-plate, band, base plate, and springs with each other," which will, no doubt, be hailed with delight by a large class of church goers, who find sleeping good for the digestion of sound sermons, but uncomfortable with the present style of pews.

LETTERS from Lisbon announce the morganatic marriage or Don Ferdinand, Ex-King of Portugal, with Fanny Ellssler. This, says Galignani, must be a second union, as the celebrated dancer had accepted, in 1854, the hand of a rich Prussian banker. The other sister, Theresa, surnamed the Majestic, became the wife of Prince Adalbert, brother of the King of Prussia. Fanny was born in 1810, so that she has now arrived at the age of 59.

THE Charleston News says: There has been no rain of any consequence in the neighborhood of Charleston since March 17th, and, during a period of nearly three months, enough rain has not fallen to penetrate the soil to a depth of more than two inches. So long a drought at this season of the year has no parallel, we believe, in the memory of our oldest citizens. All the farms near the city are suffering greatly, and nearly every cistern in the city is dry.

TWO brothers named Adams, of Lester, Black Hawk county, Iowa, quarrelled last week, when the younger, aged sixteen, drew a knife and struck his brother, aged twenty-five, the blade entering the corner of his eye. The wound paralyzed the man; and, although only sixty rods from home, he was unable to reach the house, but remained where the affray occurred all night. Young Adams fled after inflicting the blow, but returned next day, confessed, and told where his brother could be found, who was then brought home. He still retains his senses but is unable to move his limbs.

ON Saturday a man named Harriman reached the Michigan State Prison for the fourth time, sentenced for three years. He is but thirty years old, and first went to prison when only seventeen years of age for horse stealing, and served a year. He was out a short time, got married, and was sent back under a five years' sentence. Upon being released the second time he entered the army, deserted, got married again, was sent up from Monroe county for horse stealing, served five years and was released about a year ago. A short time after gaining his liberty he married a young girl about fifteen years of age, at Dexter. stole another horse and is now back in his old quarters.

A BLIND horse wandered into White river at Indianapolis, and, getting beyond his depth, swam around in a circle, trying to find his way out. His distress attracted another horse not far away on the bank, which first went to the water's edge and tried to direct the blind horse by neighing. Failing in this, he took to the water, and swam out to his relief, and after swimming around him for nearly a quarter of an hour, he finally got the blind horse to understand in what direction the land lay, and the two horses came to shore side by side. amid the cheers of upward of one hundred persons, who had become spectators.

THE Rev. Mr. Cheney, of Chicago, who has recently been called to account by Bishop Whitehouse for his Low Church proclivities, said in his sermon on Sunday last: "I could tell you of a clergyman, high in station in this very city, preaching to his people on the eve of communion—what? Not the great truth which that sacrament commemorates, but the duty of receiving the bread with hands crossed, and of carrying it to the lips without touching it with the fingers! With a congregation gathered there, to whom he could speak the word of eternal life for only thirty minutes out of the seven days of temptation, and toil, and care, that was the message he had to give."

A COMPREHENSIVE family difficulty occurred in Cavendish, Vt., the other day. Mrs. Minerva Bent, after getting her husband Samuel's estate deeded to her, got a divorce and tried to drive him out of the house. He held on to the lower part, and brought a chancery action to recover his property. On Friday she fortified his house against him in his absence, barricaded doors and windows, and formed herself, two sons and a daughter-in-law into a garrison. When Bent returned he was violently stoned, but smashed a door with his axe. His son George immediately cracked his head with a small boulder, his son Walker poured a pail of hot water on him, his son's wife Camelia fired a revolver at him, and the row stopped. The next day the whole party, together with a drunken Frenchman who took part under the idea that it was a free fight, were arrested and bound over for trial.

THERE was a "run" recently on a Brooklyn Savings Bank, and the Directors found that they had not money enough in the vaults to meet the demand, and sent a messenger to New York to get a fresh supply. They were afraid of getting out, and instructed the Teller to count very slowly in order to gain time. The next ruse was to send one of their clerks into the line of depositors, and have him present his account and get into a row with the Teller. He did his work to perfection, complained that the money was not all right, compelled the Cashier to count it several times, and made so much noise that a policeman was sent for. The rest of the depositors were amused at the row, and forgot that they were being detained. When the messenger arrived with a fresh supply of money the Teller apologized to the fictitious depositor, the quarrel was made up and the work of paying went on.

DR. WHITTIER

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.

A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.

It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.

The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET. (near Court House.) Pittsburgh, Pa.

CATTLE.

For some weeks past there has been so little difference in prices that it was almost impossible to tell whether there was any change at all. This week, however, there is no difficulty in that respect, as prices are fully half a cent lower and even at this reduction the market is dull, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand. This was not unlooked for, however, as it was expected that the arrivals would commence to loom up pretty well about the latter part of this month, and these expectations are being fully realized. Cattle are coming in from all directions, including Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. It is true, the quality, all things considered, is not as good as it has been, but with an over supply of medium and common grades, prime cattle have declined as well as the common grades. Nor is it believed that the bottom has been touched. Cattle are reported abundant throughout the entire country, and, besides, prices of fresh meat, particularly beef, have been relatively higher than anything else, and, of course, it is not to be expected, that this can be maintained.

Last week prime fat steers sold at 8, with some few at 8¼, while this week the same grades have not commanded over 7½@7¾, and there will be but few sold over 7½. Medium to good sold at 7@7¼.

SHEEP.

The arrivals of Sheep have been unusually large, and with only a moderate demand, and an over supply, the market has been and is still exceedingly dull, and compared with last week, prices are down from ½ to 1 cent per pound, and to-day the pens are full and overflowing, and the market was very dull even at the decline. The very best fat Sheep cannot be quoted above 4½@4¾ while last week the same grade brought 5½@5¾—with one sale of extra at 6¼; scalawags to fair may be quoted at 2½@3½; and good at 4 cts. Following is a report of the daily sales during the week:

HOGS.

There was an unusually large supply of Hogs on Saturday and Monday, all the pens being filled and the market, as a consequence ruled dull, and prices lower; yesterday and to-day, however, under the influence of a large falling off in the receipts, the market stiffened up and prices advanced about a quarter of a cent, and besides the demand, even at the advance, was rather better. We now quote York Hogs at 8½@9 cts.; and Philadelphia Hogs at 9¼@9¾. Following is a report of the daily sales:

RIVER NEWS.

The river was again rising slowly yesterday afternoon with eight feet seven inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks. Weather cool and pleasant, mercury at 4 P. M. 80.

The New State from Wheeling, Grey Eagle from Parkersburg and Petrolia from Rochester, are the only arrivals, while aside from the packets there were no departures.

The R. C. Grey, Capt. Isaac Whittaker, is filling up steadily for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi.

The Kate Putnam, Capt. G. W. Reed, is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville forthwith.

The Wauanita, Capt. C. A. Dravo, is announced for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi.

—The Glasgow, Pittsburgh to St. Paul, left St. Louis on Monday.

—The Great Republic passed Memphis on Monday.

—The Glendale, St. Louis to Pittsburgh, passed by Cincinnati on Sunday, and the Messenger, Pittsburgh to Upper Mississippi, arrived there on Monday night.

—The Maggie Hays arrived at Cincinnati on Monday, and after discharging her cargo, will go on the dock for repairs.

—The G. A. Thompson, sunk and burned in Arkansas River, is a total loss, and will be wrecked as soon as the water falls. She is entirely filled with sand.

—The T. D. Hine is offered for sale at New Orleans.

—The Minnie loads for Fort Sully at St. Louis.

—The Belle is coming up the Ohio with Noye's Circus on board.

—The Pink Varble was sold at auction, at Nashville, on Saturday, to Captain Paul, who formerly owned her, for $4,000, cash.

—The owners of the steamboat Stonewall have sued the owners of the Kate Kinney for $960, which they claim as due for services rendered by their boat in lighting the Kate Kinney when she was in peril and distress at Hat Island, on the 18th of November, 1868.

—The officers of the Importer report that business is exceedingly dull in Montana, and that operations in the mines are very limited. Hundreds were anxious to return to the States, but had not sufficint means to pay for their passage. The Importer was crowded with passengers on both decks, and all the returning boats will secure full passenger lists.

—A dispatch to Captain Dave Powell states that the Utah and Lacon arrived at Fort Benton on the 15th. All well on board. The Utah will return to St. Louis, and the Lacon will remain above to assist any steamers that may get into a "difficulty" at Dauphin's Rapids. The Utah made the run in less than forty-five days, counting the time lost at Sioux City and Omaha.

—A current rumor prevails that the Barge Co. at Memphis has made a compromise with the Memphis and St. Louis Packet Co., the latter agreeing to transport Memphis freights at the same rates allowed by the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, which is a reduced figure from the present tariff. Should this be carried out, it will bring to Memphis a large amount of Arkansas trade which now goes to St. Louis and other cities, on account of the cheap rates of freight charged by through lines.

THE New York "Hansom Cab" Company has sent to England for two hundred cabs. In England the superior lightness, elegance and grace of American-made carriages is acknowledged, and the most stylish wagon makers in Great Britain get their wheels from this country, yet labor is so much cheaper there than here that the above mentioned Company can afford to send to England and import these new vehicles, parts of which in all probability came first from America. This significant fact should be quite sufficient to make all wagon makers protectionists.

THE Pittsburgh Post is quite right in taking the alarm, when one of its Democratic cotemporaries in the interior "insists that no man whose record will put the party on the defensive ought to be made the nominee for Governor" of that party. The Post does not seem to concern itself with the grave fact that a record precisely of this sort pertains to every Democratic politician of any prominence in that party during the eight years past, but exhibits a pained consciousness that the record of its own favorite choice for the nomination is really the most obnoxious of all in that regard. Hence its sensitiveness to the objection which we quote.

THE taste of the Secretary of the Navy, in one respect, is certainly questionable, and in our mind much to be deplored. Why should the thoroughly original and American names of our war-vessels be abandoned, to make room for the worn-out classical cognomens which have figured in all the navies of the world for ages? The Indian names are to our ears as beautiful as the classic ones, and not by any means so trite. Nantucket is as beautiful and sweet and high-sounding as Medusa; Tonawanda has a national sound, besides being quite as easy to remember and pronounce as Amphitrite, while Madoc's heroic achievements are quite as deserving of a monument in the American naval nomenclature as are those of Hercules. We have always enjoyed those truly national and poetic names by which our vessels have hitherto been known, and in hearing of the arrival in some foreign waters of a vessel whose very title is a part of home. The change is a little thing, to be sure, but it seems distasteful and unworthy of so accomplished a gentleman as Mr. BORIE.

THE tide of immigration seems to have set in steadily from the west; thousands of Chinese have abandoned the Celestial Empire and come to America, and the Japanese are beginning to follow the example set by their continental neighbors. The Malay people are essentially economical, and even in San Francisco, one of the dearest cities in the world, they are said to preserve their native habits of economy. Will not this constantly increasing Asiatic element, sooner or later, have the effect of forcing a general tendency to frugality upon our people? Will they not, by earning the same wages and living on half the same, soon force their Caucasian competitors into adopting the same system, or, if not, gradually engross so much more than their proportion of the wealth of the country as thereby to enforce their adoption, or the comparative depression of the total Caucasian industry? If the Malays succeed in naturalizing economy in America they will work a great good, but the introduction into a population of a new and uncongenial race is always a question of great importance, and if the position of that race be not justly and securely fixed at the start, the gravest troubles may, in the course of time, be looked for as inevitable.

OHIO politicians are discussing the propriety of further action by their Legislature on the XVth Article, which was rejected in that State last winter by the temporary Democratic majority. A few among our Republican friends propose that the next Legislature, in which our majority is considered certain, should reconsider that rejection, and ratify the Article. Fortunately, no such suggestion is likely to have the official countenance of the party. It is very properly considered that the action of a State once taken, whether affirmatively or negatively, is decisive, exhausting its Constitutional functions in respect of the Article submitted. Upon the opposite doctrine to this, it would also be necessary to concede the legality of the movements in Ohio and New Jersey, by Democratic Legislatures, for the withdrawal of the assent which those States had respectively given to the XIVth Article. In this view, the leading Republicans of Ohio have the concurrence of the Democracy, who prefer to abandon their opposition to the XIVth, that they may bind the State more absolutely to its rejection of the XVth last winter. In fact, they incline to make any sacrifice rather than to admit some five thousand of their colored males to the suffrage. It is clear, therefore, that Ohio is not, under any possible state of parties, to be formally counted for the XVth Article. The Republicans affirm the principle which it embodies, endorsing in heartily in their platform at Columbus yesterday, but claim no right to any further legislative action upon it, unless duly ratified by a majority of the other States.

THE NATIONAL GOOD FAITH.

The Administration adheres consistently to the correct American view of the obligations of neutral powers toward a foreign government, any portion of whose subjects may be in rebellion against its authority. While the Republic instructs its Minister at London to uphold our just claims for a suitable reparation for that illegal British sympathy which placed so many obstacles in the way of the speedy suppression of our late Southern rebellion against the Federal authority, the President enforces the same obligations of neutrality within the limits of this country against all who would unlawfully manifest their sympathy for the insurgent Cubans. The recent seizures of vessels loaded with war material and destined for insurgent use, with the arrest of such Cuban agents as have clearly violated our neutrality laws, notwithstanding the preponderance of American feeling upon the side of the insurgent cause, must afford to the British government a satisfactory proof of the sincerity with which we make our reclamations in the matter of the Alabama and other Anglo-rebel depredations upon our commerce. It seemed to us, months since,—and we so expressed the view—that the American treatment of the Cuban question would bear with the greatest force upon the adjustment of the pending controversy with England. Events more and more confirm this opinion. Indeed, we might add that this Cuban imbroglio, involving, as it does, so heartily the popular sympathies of the American people, has come at a most fortunate moment to strengthen the American position in Europe, and that we shall be as decisively as favorably weighed in the judgment of Christendom according to our conspicuously consistent good faith in dealing with those sympathizers who violate our own neutrality laws. It is gratifying therefore to see displayed, at Washington, a just regard for the rights of Spain, which will do us more good in London than the menacing partizanship of a ecore of political conventions.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENED.

The Republicans of Pennsylvania again marshal their columns in the field, and under the same leader who headed the victorious march of 1866. And at least an equal triumph again awaits them. It is not within the remembrance of our politicians that a Convention of the party has found its way so speedily and so harmoniously to the conclusion of its labors, as did that Republican Council which yesterday assembled at Philadelphia, to learn that its members were all of one mind, that the path through a successful canvass was to be embarrassed by no preliminary struggles for the individual honors of the nominations, that they, who should be our standard-bearers, had been already indicated by an unanimous popular preference, and that, all over the arena of consultation, there could be found, either of principles or of men, absolutely nothing whatever to debate. The barest needful formalities of organization alone preceded the enthusiastic cheers which from every side welcomed the re-investiture of our nominees, by a common consent, with the unshaken confidence of their political friends, and, as we are quite sure, of a large majority of the people of this Commonwealth. In the contrasts which yesterday's Convention affords, in this regard, with the proceedings of its predecessors in '63 and '66, our Republican friends will discover the happiest auguries for the inevitable triumph of next October.

Our reports show that the Convention was fully attended, every district of the State being represented. The preliminary organization was conducted by Hon G. A. GROW, Chairman of the State Committee, whose brief address was marked by pointed, fitting and graceful allusions to the high responsibilities of the occasion, and by significant references to the evident readiness of the Convention to express the common preferences of all its members. The regular organization followed, Allegheny county being fully and worthily represented, upon the Committees, in the selection of the subordinate officers, and in the honor, still more marked, of furnishing the permanent Chairman—a post which was entrusted to Hon. JAMES L. GRAHAM. This was a compliment alike to this great county, which knows how to attest its devotion to Republican principles in the most effectual way, and to the personal and official worth of a citizen of whom Allegheny county is justly proud. And this compliment was immediately and gracefully acknowledged. The Convention was then ready for its business,—the nomination of our candidates and the declaration of the issues upon which the people are invited to support them. How that business was done, our report furnishes a grateful account.

The renomination of General JOHN W. GEARY for Governor must, under the circumstances, be highly gratifying to his own feelings and to those of his personal friends. It would be idle to deny that strong opposition to him has been attempted to be developed among a portion of those who may properly be regarded as Republican politicians, and speculation has been indulged in, in many quarters, as to the probabilities of his being defeated before the State Convention through their agency. But he has proved much stronger with the masses of the party than with some of the leaders thereof, and hence he is again a candidate for the gubernatorial office. This popular confidence in his capacity, integrity and patriotism, which has evidently overborne and brought to naught all the combinations which may have been entered into for his discomfiture, is not simply a fact, but a prophecy. It indicates that in the canvass, and at the ballot-box, he may safely count on the weight and momentum of the same potent element, and that the disaffected politicians, if any there may be, after brief reflection, will fall in with the prevailing current. We need only remind our readers of the sharp and apparently exhaustive struggle which, six years ago, was closed in this city, in the re-nomination of GOV. CURTIN by a bare majority, in the face of the bitterest opposition and of the most confident predictions in his defeat at the polls, and upon which the people of Pennsylvania, but a few brief months afterward, pronounced their judgment in a magnificent majority at the polls. So now, when the politicians have had their day, and have made so little of it, the masses of Pennsylvania will come to the front once more in solid columns to renew the commission of their confidence to an Executive whom they believe to have done his duty.

Of Judge WILLIAMS, selected by the Convention for the Supreme Bench, we, his fellow-citizens of Allegheny, need only say that in all the Commonwealth there was found not one competitor to dispute his just title to the honor. Already tried by the professional and public opinion of Pennsylvania, the ermine which he wears has been deservedly won, and is worn in fidelity to the law and to the honor not more of himself than of the people of this great State. Thus judged by his fellow-citizens, by his political friends, and by all the bar who have had even now much occasion to judge of his official worth, he needs no other eulogy from us. The Convention of yesterday has pronounced an eulogy to which no words of his friends and neighbors need attempt to add.

It remains now for the Republicans of Pennsylvania to complete the work which they have begun. It can and will be finished in but one way. Our Commonwealth is with us. We have governed it well. The people ask for no change in its general policy. We have the votes, and these will be cast as ever for the party of the Union, of American interests, of liberty and equality under our Constitutions and laws.

A NOTE ON PROFESSOR HUXLEY'S LECTURE.

The writer of the article below, taken from the Richmond Eclectic, Baltimore, is of Holly Springs, Miss. An article of his in the Southern Review, entitled classification, had the good fortune to be commended by Professor AGASSIZ. It may be well to state that, in the lecture here reviewed, Prof. HUXLEY takes the ground that life attaches to matter in certain combinations and under certain conditions of temperature, chemical action of light, electrical excitation, and the like, just in the same sense that the quality of being a vapor, a fluid, or a solid, under the influence of heat and cold attaches to water. In other words, he holds that it is as absurd to individualize the principle of life, and give it a special name, vitality, as to do the same thing for the group of phenomena exhibited by water (aqua), and attribute them to the principle of aquosity resident therein. The far-reaching consequences of such speculations are self-suggestive. It is but fair to say that Prof. HUXLEY, while claiming that it is more convenient to use terms which imply materialistic views, denies that he holds to the materialistic philosophy. Mr. JOHNSON'S discussion is learned and able, and seems to be candid and fair. Our friend, Dr. B. C. JILLSON, of the Western University, has made to us a suggestion that strikes us with force. If life is the distinctive quality of protoplasm, that which must show itself from the very constitution of this substance, (and if not, there is nothing very remarkable in Prof. HUXLEY'S discourse,) what can we understand by Prof. H.'s "dead protoplasm." What would water be, minus its aquosity?

Not taking issue with editorial puffs—that this is a "remarkable discourse"—nor denying the eminence of Prof. Huxley as a naturalist, we are yet unable to see why his conception of a material basis of vitality should be called "a new theory," This has been the aim of all the speculations and the tendency of all the discoveries in physical science—at least since the days of Oken. Nor is his adoption of the protoplasma of a cell as the basis of vitality anything particularly new. This has been seen and said before by his friend Carpenter, and by him accredited to the discoveries of Nagli, Mohl and Schleiden. The latter undoubtedly regard the cell as the basis of all organisms. As to the description of the currents of circulating fluid in a cell, this no novelty; but when he attributes this motion to some innate contracting and expanding power of the "protoplasma," and there rests as the final solution of his inexplicable vitality,—then he is a little peculiar. The location of vitality in the cell has long been taught; at least it has so long been familiar to us, that we cannot at the moment undertake to say with whom it originated. However this may be, we cannot see that Prof. Huxley goes one whit beyond his predecessors in analysis of the material and physical basis of life. He does not attempt to account for the movements of the protoplasma; he acknowledges that the origin of that organism of the colloid matter itself is wholly inexplicable. Inexplicable?—when we have all the materials at hand from the foundation of the world? As soon as water could appear and rest upon this globe, appeared also ammonia and carbon. Is there anything more wanting to produce organic plasma? The sulphur, phosphorus, and earthy salts, if needed, were also at hand. We regard it as inexplicable, because the chemist has not as yet been able to produce this compound, though in the great laboratory of nature we see it was produced. True, if we had this problem solved, there would remain no longer any mystery in organic life. But after all it is more a problem of expertness on the part of the chemist in the manipulation of formulæ, than a profound difficulty in science. Thus proteine, according to Mulder's formula, is $C_{40}H_{31}N_5O_{12}$, while ammonia is H_3N, and water HO; carbonic acid is CO_2, and etherene, or olefiant gas, one of the forms of carburetted hydrogen, is C_4H_4. The difficulty is simply to fix the due amount of carbon, and eliminate the surplus gases.

Again, supposing that Prof. Huxley's account of cell circulation as the effect of undulations of the colloid utricle is true—(and to one who has seen the thing itself, and compared the slow movements of the plasma with the great velocity of the liquid current, it must be unsatisfactory)—but supposing it the true one: What excites and vibrates the protoplasma? He intimates darkly it may be owing to electric or electro-magnetic currents. But if so, whence are these currents derived? Answering none of these questions, he leaves us exactly where the older naturalists left us—that is, brings us back in the old vicious circle to its vitality. We are unable to perceive his great advance upon the philosophy which he so successfully ridicules from Martinus Scriblerus, as the "meat-roasting qualities of the smoke-jack."

Perhaps it was not his object to go any further with the analysis. Had it been, he would have told us that in all organisms this protoplasma of colloid matter is cut up into certain definite portions, forming utricles or sacculi; that to each of these sacculi or cells, as they must henceforth be called, belongs an external exuvious coat, and probably an internal lining membrane, between which coatings lies this plastic material to which is attached the mysterious property, life; that within this hypothetical lining or basement membrane forming vacuoles or canaliculi in the plasma, is contained this circulating fluid, holding in solution or in granules, non-nitrogenized substances of the chemical ternary group; that this endowment of life (as he well says from Bichat) is developed by death—that is, that it is by the oxydation, the destruction of the organism itself in a disproportionate degree as to the several parts, that the life current is produced; that accordingly, as a fact, this oxydation is of the cell-contents, in preference to the cell-plasma; that this plasma forms the cell, sack, or bag to hold these contents, precisely because it is less oxydizable than the ternary compounds within; that though less oxydizable than the contents, the colloid portion of the protoplasma is more liable to change,—the nitrogen continually escaping, or straining to do so; and that this very change developes the first electro animo-magnetic current, which promotes the oxydation of the ternary groups of the cell-contents; which oxydation, in turn, developes the more powerful currents that cause the undulations of the plasma and the circulation of the fluid; which circulation again is determined by one or more points of the cell being more accessible to oxygen than others, and that this determines and directs the building up of the organism and its multiplication.

Thus life is reduced not merely to some mysterious inexplicable property of the organism—an endowment of the protoplasma,—but to the known ultimate laws of matter, under the guidance of the known physical forces.

Nor for all this, are we afraid to undertake to defend Prof. Huxley and his philosophy against the charge of materialism and implied inference of atheism. We cannot say that his defence of himself is very successful or very philosophical. A man may be a great naturalist without at the same time being a profound and well guarded philosopher. The former is a specialty; the latter is the office of comparing, of generalizing, of harmonizing all facts and truths. A naturalist need no more undertake this, than a carpenter need be also a mason and sculptor, or assume the functions of the architect who is to give order and harmony to the labors of the thousand workmen who erect and adorn the temple. Had Prof. H. followed out his own position: "That we are dealing merely with terms and symbols, ... that it is of little moment whether we express the phenomena of matter in terms of spirit, or the phenomena of spirit in terms of matter, ... matter may be regarded as a form of thought—thought may be regarded as a property of matter,"—had he carried out these principles, we say, to their ultimate conclusion, he might have spared us the lecture from Hume, and the counsel to "commit the volumes of Divinity to the flames," might have spared us his wrath against the mistaken enemies of the "new philosophy." His own master Comte (though he is vehement in denying the obligation) clearly recognizes the possibility (and the fact) of "primitive intuitions and instincts": that is, of arriving at truth by some other method than the scientific, and the justness of reasoning from a priori conceptions of truth. And this is all that these books of Divinity attempt. We say nothing of how well they may have accomplished it; the scope is a legitimate one; that is, viewing it from one of Prof. H.'s own proposed stand-points—spirit, thought. But view it from the other: matter. Then what are all these great books and systems of theology, metaphysics, &c., &c., but great facts also of this material world, —phenomena of his own thinking protoplasma,—facts of thought, facts of mind, psychological facts,—therefore according to this view facts of matter? And if facts of matter, how can a mere materialist even despise them? A mere naturalist might have no use for them, but the philosopher must give them place in his pantheon. True, to the mere collector of the fauna and flora of earth, might be applied his own sage counsel, ne sutor ultra crepidam; and we agree with him, that to such a one these may be questions of "lunar politics."

We are not denying that human knowledge has limits, nor disposed to take issue here with Prof. H., and detract from the glory of Hume in attempting to fix those limits, or of Kant who systematized this attempt, (though in various ways this had often been done before); but we are not for fixing these limits arbitrarily and according to the tastes and feelings of individuals who, for aught we know, class "lunar phases" with "lunar politics." A few years ago the proposition to tell us the composition of the sun and stars, and whether the latter are moving or not, would have been so classed. To a carpenter knowing no tools but his own, it must be inconceivable how a cornice might be fashioned out of stone or iron.

It is not that these "new Philosophers" (if the term delight them) claim their liberty to pursue truth by their own method—to this they are entitled; but it is to their aggressive attitude, it strikes us, men object. Even Gibbon remarked of Voltaire that he was "a bigot, an intolerant bigot;" and the same is most strikingly true of Hume. He was in his way as fanatical as old John Knox, or any other bigot of them all. This we see still in Huxley. He is not content with being a naturalist, (and one of the greatest living)—not content to know and declare such truth as it has been given him to see,—aggressively, fanatically, he denies that there is any other. Beyond his Koran there cannot be anything worth knowing, therefore delenda sunt. So true is it, that we will find the great mass of human errors in negations.

Taking, then, what we conceive to be the true philosophical position—a comparative analysis of all facts, we should attempt to make peace between Mr. Huxley and the Archbishop of York. "Shall I lose my bully doctor, or shall I lose my parson?" as mine host of the Garter would say. It does seem to us, that religiosity in man is one of the great facts of his existence,—as thoroughly universal as any other law of his being. He has a faculty and love of music—another one of these universal laws; but music is in many respects incomprehensible. Can one tell us with certainty why music delights us; why a harmony is agreeable, why a discord jars? A property or faculty of the acoustic nerves? Ah, we are still brought back at last in the same old circle to the "meat-roasting quality of the smoke-jack." But because we do not comprehend fully the source of the influence of "sweet sounds," shall we refuse to cultivate music as a science? Shall we refuse to recognize what it has done for the cultivation and happiness of mankind? And yet, to seek further to investigate the foundation of harmony, might be classed with Prof. H.'s "lunar politics."

How much greater wisdom is there, thus to class the religious tendencies of man? Let it be distinctly understood, we are not here affirming or denying the foundation of religious beliefs; we do not attack the Jewish conception of a revelation, nor the myths of Greece, India, or Peru; but taking only this, a posteriori position—matter, and observing and reasoning inductively from this stand-point, can we, as naturalists (materialists if you will) close our eyes to the grand class of natural phenomena that belongs to the animal man? He has not a faculty or a passion that more universally demands gratification than this one—religiosity. Viewed from this point (and mind, we do not assert, nor deny, that this is all and the only one,) religion is as much a passion, a property of the animal as the love of music, of society, of offspring, of sex,—a passion that in a healthy, normal condition promotes human happiness and civilization; in abnormal or pathological conditions drags him down to gloom and degradation. Is it not then to be cultivated? Let us still have its teachers and professors, who will elevate and refine it with the progress in all other things, and lead us on to the enjoyment of its high entrancing melodies, and know how to avoid the deplorable discords which destroys souls.

We wish to be understood, therefore, as saying, that in this manner we conceive all the facts and systems of theology or theosophy to be capable of reduction truly and properly to the rules of inductive science. We cannot predict precisely what will be the result when science shall have attained this wonderful eminence; but from analogy of other realms invaded by this great modern conquerer (for instance again, music), we cannot hope that in this, which is destined to be its last conquest, the scientific method will accomplish more for religion than explain, from another point of view, results already attained empirically; that it will not create any new religion any more than it has created new music or painting, but give us new comprehension of the old,

We cannot, therefore, second or adopt the proposition of Prof. Huxley from the great skeptic Hume, to commit to the flames the religious labors of the race for now these so many ages. We regard it, on the contrary, as repugnant to that very philosophy of which the latter is considered one of the founders, and the former one of the most brilliant disciples. Hume, alas! died as soon as comparative analysis was born, and could not dream of the wonders to be achieved by it. It is enough for us that a new faculty, a new method, is born to us—the scientific—which can lead us to higher certainty than our fathers could attain. But there is nothing yet to prove that these two methods are contradictory. On the contrary, we believe they will ultimately culminate in the same point, as in the great Empire all roads lead to Rome.

A "POINT" WORTHY OF ATTENTION.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Your remarks in Tuesday's issue in relation to the point of land at the junction of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, suggest the inquiry who controls the "point." A wooden building of considerable size is erected about the middle of that spot, and connected with it is an enclosure of some extent, surrounded by a close board fence.

If the city controls it as public property, certainly it is injudicious for the "fathers" to allow wooden buildings to be erected upon it in violation of the ordinance prohibiting them, as it is but a few weeks since they took most prompt and summary action in ordering the removal of buildings in other parts of the city, which were designed for important manufacturing uses, and could not be said to be exclusively of wooden material, as that erected on the point is.

It has been mainly created within a few years by the extension of the "high and low water lines" (established by law) far into the deep water of both rivers, and the result is, as you have observed, several acres in extent, which, we agree with you, should be converted into public pleasure grounds—indeed we think this is about the only lawful use that can be made of it. It ought to be a longer time than you probably suppose "before it will be covered with boiler yards and railway depots."

If we mistake not, such uses were interdicted by the decision of the Courts, which ordered the removal of the freight shed of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from the Monongahela wharf some years ago.

It is public, open ground, and can be used for nothing else, and should be devoted to some such use in a meritorious and ornamental way.

AMERICAN COMMERCIAL LAW, Relating to every kind of Business. By Franklin Chamberlain. Hartford, O. D. Case & Co.

This work, judging by the advanced sheets which we have seen, will be an extremely valuable addition to the legal literature of the country, and one which will be of great benefit to the merchants as well as to the lawyers of America. It is written by a practical lawyer who has had a quarter of a century of experience at the bar, during which time he has paid especial attention to commercial law. The subjects treated in the book are very numerous, and a careful perusal would probably result in the saving of much legal difficulty and money in the future. Judge Hampton, in a recent letter, says of it:

"I have examined with considerable care the table of contents, and a portion of the advanced sheets of a new work on "American Commercial Law," by Franklin Chamberlain, Esq., of Hartford, and so far as I am able to judge of its merits and character, I have no hesitation in recommending it as a work of great value to the legal profession, as well as to the business community in general."

It is sold only to subscribers, and the agent here is Mr. J. R. Cunningham, whose office is at 350 Liberty street.

THE SYMPTONS OF CONSUMPTION.

Paleness of the countenance.

Spitting, or expectoration of pus.

This pus sinks in water.

It is sometimes streaked with blood.

There is chilliness or shiverings, and flashes of heat.

There is a pearly whiteness of the eyes.

The hair of the head falls off.

At times there is a circumscribed red spot on one or both cheeks.

There is swelling of the hands and feet.

There is great debility and emaciation of the body.

There is a high colored state of the urine.

With a deposit on standing like brick dust.

There is oftentimes a great thirst.

The blood is hurried through the arteries and veins.

The pulse is over a hundred, and even as high as one hundred and forty a minute.

The veins on the surface of the body are bluer than usual, and languid.

As the disease progresses the debility increases.

The expectoration becomes more copious.

The finger nails are incurvated.

There is a marasmus and wasting of all the powers of life.

There is often pain in one or both lungs.

There is often diarrhoea and faintness.

There is great sinking of the vital forces.

When there are turbercles, small portions of turbcrculous matter will be expectorated.

This tubercular matter has an offensive odor.

On an examination with a lung sound, rattling and gurgling is heard.

There is always more or less cough.

Some of these symptons are always present in pulmonary consumption, and nearly or quite al of them in different stages of the disease.

No disease of which we have any knowledge is so common and so almost invariably fatal; yet this need not be the case if the earlier symptoms were heeded. Time and again we have called attention to Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, which will in every instance of a recent cough arrest the progress of the disease and hinder its development, and even after it has become settled will often cure it and arrest further decay of the lungs.

Sold at the great Medicine Store, No. 167 LIBERTY STREET, one door from St. Clair. Dr. Keyser may be consulted at his LIBERTY STREET OFFICE EVERY DAY UNTIL 12 o'clock, and at his resident office, No. 120 Penn street, from 1 to 4 o'clock.

GENERAL DEBILITY IS NATURE'S APPEAL FOR HELP.

Thousands of persons, without any specific ailment, are the victims of languor and lassitude. The unthinking are apt to confound this species of inertion with laziness; whereas it usually arises from a want of organic energy, for which the subjects of it are no more responsible than the near-sighted are for their defective vision. Such persons, although they may be free from pain, are as truly invalids, and as much in need of medical aid as if they were tormented with the pangs of acute disease. They require a TONIC and ALTERATIVE that will rouse and regulate their torpid organizations. In cases of this kind HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect. The debilitated and desponding valetudinarian, who feels as if he were but half alive; who shuns company, and has no relish either for business or pleasure; is metamorposed, by a brief course of this most potent vegetable invigorant, into quite a different being. The change effected by the BITTERS, in his bodily and mental condition, is a surprise to himself and his friends. He mopes no longer; the active principle of life, which seemed to have died out of him, is re-awakened, and he feels like a new man. Remembering that debility is not only an affliction itself, but an INVITATION TO DISEASE, no time should be lost in recruiting the broken-down system with this choicest and most potent of all TONICS AND NERVINES.

VALUABLE CITY LOTS FOR SALE.

The undersigned, as trustee in the partition of the real estate of

AGNES KNOX, Deceased,

By order of the District Court of Allegheny county, will sell at public sale, on the premises, on

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1869,

At 2 o'clock P. M., that very valuable property on Fifth avenue, city of Pittsburgh, consisting of TWO LOTS. First—A lot fronting on Market street 30 feet and extending, the same width, along the south side of Fifth avenue 101 feet to Market alley. Second—A lot on the opposite side of Market alley, fronting on Fifth avenue 20 feet and running back, preserving the same width, along Market alley 39 feet. On the first mentioned lot are FOUR FRAME TENEMENTS, and on the other a THREE STORY BRICK BUILDING.

These lots are among the most valuable in the city of Pittsburgh, being on the principal street and in the centre of business. The attention of capitalists is particularly invited to them, as they are desirable chiefly for the value of the lots, the buildings not being of much consequence, and possession for building purposes can be obtained on 3 months' notice. The property now rents for over eight thousand dollars. The purchaser will receive the rents after July 1st.

THE TERMS OF SALE.

One-third cash, and the remaining two-thirds in two equal annual payments, with semi-annual interest from day of sale, secured by bond and mortgage on the premises.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, June 23, 1869.

The gold market remained firm and very strong at times from 137⅛ to 137½. The fact that the Government will sell two millions per month from after July 1st, imparts a firmer feeling to the market and those who sold gold for want of currency, are anxious to cover at present rates, since it is doubtful whether the July interest, owing to European bond holders, will not have to be remitted in gold.

Government bonds were very dull early this morning, but advanced about one-half per cent. and closed strong.

Stocks are firmer since the money market is easy. Nearly all the clique stocks have advanced and the general list is for higher quotations Cleveland is expected to advance sharply and Reading is likely to touch 102. Fort Wayne is uncertain, although its friends do not doubt but that after the ratification of the lease to the Pennsylvania Central a dividend of at least 80 per cent. will be made in stock and cash.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The late advance in cotton goods is fully established, but distribution goes on slowly and as the market is likely to rule quiet for the next thirty days, it may be surmised that prices will go no higher for the present until the fall trade sets in. Heavy seetings steady at 16½@17c for best makes; printing cloths nominally worth 9@9¼c for 7 yards goods, and calicoes range from 12 to 13c.

The California papers promise a hearty lcome to Ex-Secretary Seward. The cramento Union says: "He is welme everywhere in this land which he l not believe it possible to divide, and hose people he did not deem capable of minal folly. Not least in California ll he be welcomed and thanked for serces to the State which, though great, ll be dwarfed in our thoughts by his e and labor for the whole Republic."

The St. Louis Democrat cordially enrses Senator Brownlow's letter in favor a liberal policy in regard to the reval of political disabilities from the e rebels, and asks: "If Tennessee can se the dignity of a broad and liberal licy, pray what shall hinder Missouri?"

To the letter from the Chairman of the nservative Committee of Virginia, ask General Canby to state officially that members of the State Legislature uld not be required to take the test h, he promptly responded that all the mbers must take it before they could seated; and quoted that clause of the Reconstruction acts" which says: "All rsons elected or appointed to office unr these acts shall take and subscribe to oath of office prescribed by the act of ly 2, 1862."

The Knoxville Whig says there is no ore probability of And. Johnson being cted Governor of Tennessee in August an there is of his flight by railroad to North Star. And it also says there is st as little probability of a coalition beeen him and Senator Brownlow.

The Knoxville (Tenn.) Whig prets that Governor Senter will be re-elec by grand majorities.

Washington Items.

We have the most accurate information at Lord Clarendon, the British Foreign inister, is desirous of transferring forgn negotiations regarding the Alabama fficulties to Washington.

It is ascertained that the conduct of J. atson Webb, our Minister to Brazil, in manding his passports is not sustained the State Department. Webb, it apars, has not been on good terms personly with the Brazilian officials, and the isiness of his (our) Government has ffered to some extent in consequence, s his successor has already been appoind, no notice will be taken of his conct by our Government. The Brazilian inister here asserts that whatever misderstanding has arisen between our overnment and that of Brazil is entirely ving to the conduct of Minister Webb, d will disappear with him.

The Census Committee, which adjourn on Saturday, had under discussion the estion of the basis of representation in ongress under the next census. It is derstood that the conclusion reached as that if the Fifteenth Amendment ils of ratification before the census is ken, several of the large Northern ates, where negroes are not allowed to te will, under the operations of the ourteenth Amendment to the Constituon, have the number of their Represenives reduced. The Southern States ill not be affected in their representation this amendment, as those disfranchised r participation in the rebellion are not unted out in the apportionment.

A Rebel Anecdote.

In the work by John Estin Cooke, entled "Wearing of the Gray," the followg anecdote occurs: In 1863 the enemy ught an old countryman near Madison ourt House and informed him that he ust do one of two things—either take e oath of allegiance to the United States overnment or prepare to be buried alive. e declined taking the oath, when his aptors deliberately proceeded to dig a rave, and when it was finished they led im to it and said:

"Will you take the oath?"

"No!" responded the prisoner.

"You had better."

"I won't."

"If you don't take the oath you will be uried alive in that grave within the next ve minutes!"

The old fellow approached nearer, oked with attention at the yawning pit efore him, and then turning round, with is hands in his pockets, calmly replied: "Well, go on with your funeral!"

ABOUT five thousand women met in t. George's Hall, Bradford, England, on e 24th ult, and presented to Mr. Edvard Miall, M. P., a handsome testionial, consisting of a library of refernce of about 400 volumes, a timepiece nd candelabra for Mrs. Miall, and a iano-forte worth $575 for their daughter. Mr. Miall, in acknowledging the presenation, said: "I look forward to the ime, not perhaps near, but still not so emote but that possibly it may be witessed by some even of this assembly, when women will cease to be employed n those works—rough, hard, toilsome, xhausting work—in which she is engagd now in order to contribute her part oward the maintenance of her children. The time will come, I trust, when neither n the factory nor in other great shops of ndustry, will woman's work be needed; when husbands will be sufficiently renunerated for their toil; when capital and labor will become so far reconciled o one another as that men may do the work of men, and women may be spared hat work in order that they may the more fully preside over the work of the household.

A GUNPOWDER HAMMER, applied to pile-driving, has been exhibited in Philadelphia. The cartridge contained onethird of an ounce of gunpowder; the hammer weighed 675 pounds, and the cylinder or gun 1,500 pounds. This was loaded and fired fifty-five times in one minute and a quarter. The driving power is eight times as great as that of the steam hammer, and the speed ten times.

CURE OF OBESITY.—The bromide of ammonium is reccommended by Dr. Gibb, of London, to those who suffer from an excess of fat. When taken in small doses for a length of time, it will absorb fat, and diminishthe weight of the body with greater certainty than any other known remedy.

The Cost of a Woman of the Period When Fully Made Up.

Her beautifully luxuriant blonde hair is worth, if it be a wig, from fifty to two hundred dollars; if it be a switch, from ten to one hundred dollars; if it be in curls, from ten to fifty dollars.

Her pure white brow, her dark, arched eyebrows, cost from four to fourteen dollars.

Her large and liquid eyes are worth one dollar.

Her white face and neck (when enameled) are procured at a price ranging from fifteen to thirty-five dollars.

The glowing rose and virgin lily of her cheek cost anywhere, with the various soaps and cosmetics, &c., five dollars.

Her faultless, gleaming ivories, if false, cost her from twenty-five to two hundred dollars.

Her ruby lips are worth about twenty-five cents.

Her round, plump cheeks, if plumpers, cost five dollars.

Her Grecian bend is worth anywhere from nothing to ten dollars.

Her plump arm (if padded) costs from nothing to three dollars.

Her fair white arm (if bare) costs from one to three dollars.

Her Italian hands and aristocratic nails are worth from two dollars upward.

Her corsets (therefore her waist) are worth from seventy-five cents to thirty dollars.

Her hips are rounded at a price from one dollar to six dollars and fifty cents.

Her delicious limbs, when in the shape of false calves, cost from eight dollars and upward.

Her pretty little foot and ankle cost from seven to thirty dollars.

Her blotches, tongue-scrapers, neck, &c., are worth two dollars.

The total beauty therefore costs herself, or rather some man of the period, from about eighty-five to five hundred and fifty and upward, per occasion just for her personal charms, entirely independent of her dry goods and loves of bonnets.

THE fruit and vegetable crops of Delaware, it is asserted, will largely exceed the estimates made at the commencement of the season. Already over 1,018,750 quarts of strawberries have been sent over the railroads, and the season is not yet closed. This quantity does not include the shipments by water, or the berries taken by the fruit canning establishments, or converted into wine. It is calculated that the crop of the entire peninsula will yield over two million quarts, or 62,500 bushels. The shipments of cherries and peas have also been large, and the early potatoes are also coming into the market in large quantities. The blackberry and huckleberry crops are also extraordinary, and it is anticipated that the estimate of 21,000 quarts of the raspberry will fall below the quantity actually sent to the Northern cities. The peach crop will also be abundant, and agents are already in Delaware buying the fruit while on the trees. The railroad companies have prepared over four hundred properly ventilated and shelved cars for the transportation of the peaches. It is believed that these arrangements will be hardly sufficient to move the fruit, and that more cars and sailing vessels will be required. The inhabitants of Delaware are congratulating themselves that the peninsula, which has been impoverished by failures in former years, is now favored with unprecedented crops, and that comfort and happiness will be restored to hundreds of homes where want and misery have prevailed for the past two years.

COAL CUTTING MACHINERY.—In England a number of patents have been taken out for coal cutting machines, but so far, only two have proved a success on trial. The London Mining Journal, however, speaks of a machine invented by Messrs. Firth & Davisthorpe, several of which have been used in the Hetton Colliery several years, which is said to answer the purpose, and is quite economical. The Journal also speaks of Chubbs' invention for breaking down coal, which has, we are informed, been tried in South Wales, and it is said with great success. "It consists of a number of plungers, acted upon by a hydraulic pump. It is said that with the apparatus two men could readily break down twenty tons of coal in an hour, the whole of the coal so obtained being in large blocks. If such is really the fact, and we have no reason to doubt it, and as the cost of the necessary tools and appliances would be comparatively small, we should like to hear more of it, or see the work which it does."

THE Philadelphia Ledger says: The following statement shows the number of square feet in the Squares and Parks in this city: Independence Square, 203,351 feet; Washington Square, 291,780; Franklin Square, 343,942; Jefferson Square, 113,484; Rittenhouse Square, 291,780; Logan Square, 341,289; Penn Squares—there are four of these Squares, at the intersection of Broad and Market streets—Northwest Square, 68,238 feet; Southwest Square, 51,290; Southeast Square, 53,440; Northeast Square, 69,768; Norris Square, 160,380; Kensington Square, 12,288; Fairhill Square, 105,000; Germantown Square, 2,880. The public Square known as the parade ground, in the rear of the County Prison, measures about 400,000 square feet. Fairmount Park contains two thousand two hundred and sixty-four feet, or 98,619,840 square feet.

THE following obituary notice recently appeared in a newspaper in Spain: "This morning our Saviour summoned away the jeweller Siebald Illmaga from his shop to another and better world. The undersigned, his widow, will weep upon his tomb, as will also his two daughters, Hilda and Emma, the former of whom is married, and the latter is open to an offer. The funeral will take place to-morrow. His disconsolate widow, Veronique Illmaga. P. S.—This bereavement will not interrupt our business, which will be carried on as usual, only our place of business will be removed from No. 3 Tessi de Teisturiers, to No. 4 Rue de Missionaire, as our grasping landlord has raised our rent."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. my19:151-d&F

The Ladies Strawberry Festival of the First Methodist Church of Sharpsburgh, will continue this evening. Rev. Wm. Evans, of Pittsburgh, will read "Sheridans Ride," this evening. All who desire a literary treat, should be present.

Larceny.—Lewella Lee made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging Cassie Powell with larceny. She alleges that the accused appropriated a quantity of wearing apparel, the property of the prosecutor, valued at twelve dollars. A warrant was issued.

Surety of the Peace.—William Hannan made information before Alderman Lynch yesterday against John Girty for surety of the peace. He alleges that Girty had threatened to whip him. Girty was arrested and after a hearing was, in default of bail for his appearance at Court, committed to jail.

Delinquents in the XXIIId District should bear in mind that all income taxes and special or license taxes are required to be paid on or before Friday, the 25th inst. Neglect of this matter subjects the delinquent to penalties which it is the duty of the Collector to enforce.

Assault and Battery.—Nancy Brown made information before Justice Heisel, of East Birmingham, yesterday, charging Lizzie Pomroy with assault and battery. The parties reside in Lower St. Clair township. It is alleged by the prosecutrix that the accused beat and abused her. A warrant was issued.

Larceny of Shoes.—Andrew Mulholland, of the firm of Mulholland & Cannon, made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging William Deakers with the larceny of a pair of shoes valued at $3,75. Deakers was arrested and the shoes found in his possession. After a hearing he was committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at Court.

Forcible Argument.—Anthony Schuttell made information before Justice Heisel yesterday, charging Dr. Kapp with assault and battery. He alleges that some days since he was at a Coroner's inquest where the Doctor was also, and that they differed on some point raised, when the Doctor attempted to convince him of the correctness of his (the Doctor's) position by knocking him down. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the Doctor.

Seminary Hill.—MESSRS. EDITORS: Is it proposed to include Seminary Hill in the "Park" improvement? If so, why are private contractors allowed to excavate and remove the earth from the eastern slope—the most prominent and publicly exposed part of it? If the hill is to be taken into the programme, the original contour must be restored by filling up these great excavations. As any person can see that this would be attended with very great loss, the digging business now carried on there should be stopped.

Larceny.

Henry McKeever yesterday made information before the Mayor, charging Thomas Joice, James Battles and Wm. McCallif with larceny. It appears that on Saturday evening last McKeever was bathing in the Monongahela river at the foot of Market street, and while he was in the water his pocket book, containing one hundred and fifty dollars, was taken. Joice, he alleges, was in the river with him and knew of him having the money, and he thinks he directed the others, who were on the wharf, to steal it. The accused were arrested and locked up for a hearing.

We wish him a pleasant and profitable journey and a safe return. The business of the house will be conducted during his absence by Mr. Wm. J. Friday, the remaining partner.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judges Hampton and Kirkpatrick.

WEDNESDAY, June 23.—The argument list continues to occupy the attention of the Court.

Objection has been taken to the report of the case of S. P. Irwin vs. James Bleakly, on the ground that it only presented the deponent's side, hence we admit the following communication:

THE IRWIN-BLEAKLEY CASE.

MESSRS. EDITORS: In February, 1865, James Bleakley agreed to sell Samuel P. Irwin about thirty-three acres of land in Venango county.

Bleakley agreed to make and tender a deed in fee simple for the land, clear of all incumbrances. Irwin paid twenty thousand dollars in hand and agreed to pay twenty thousand more in sixty days, or as soon thereafter as the deed and title papers conveying the land in fee simple clear of all incumbrances should be tendered.

Bleakley never tendered a deed nor title papers, and Irwin never tendered the balance of the money.

Irwin alleges that Bleakley could not make a deed clear of incumbrances, from the fact that the land was encumbered by large judgments against Bleakley. One judgment of thirty thousand dollars; another of over one thousand and a third of over six thousand dollars against Bleakley were given in evidence at the trial.

In addition to this it was in evidence that Bleakley had taken possession of the land and was making valuable improvements on it.

Irwin claims that from Bleakley's inability to make a good title, and from his taking possession of the land, that he, Irwin, has the right to rescind the contract, and has brought this action to recover back the twenty thousand dollars which he paid Bleakley, with the interest thereon, the whole amount of principal and interest now being near twenty-five thousand dollars. As it stands, Bleakley has both the land and the money.

His Honor, Judge Kirkpatrick, being of opinion that Irwin should have tendered a deed, non-suited him, and then granted a rule to show cause why the non-suit should not be taken off, and ordered an early argument of the rule, before a full bench, that he might have the benefit of the opinion of his Honor Judge Hampton.

Judge Kirkpatrick stated further that if the non-suit were taken off, that in view of the importance of the case and the magnitude of the interests involved, the case should have a prominent place on the September list. From this you will see that the case is yet in Court, and were it not for the one-sided statements in your paper of yesterday, and strangely repeated in higher colors in your paper of to-day we should not have referred to it.

June 23, 1869.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Stowe.

WEDNESDAY, June 23.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Frank Ghent, indicted for keeping a ferocious dog, reported yesterday, the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Same day motion for a new trial and reasons filed, by Mr. Mackrell, defendant's counsel.

Commonwealth vs. Palmyra Ghent. Surety of the peace. Ann Voss, prosecutrix. Case dismissed and prosecutrix to pay costs.

Commonwealth vs. Ann Voss, surety of the peace, two cases. Mary Ghent prosecutrix. Cases dismissed at the costs of prosecutrix.

The next case taken up was the Commonwealth vs. David Campbell, indicted for assault and battery, Timothy Golden prosecutor. The defendant in this case is a Lieutenant on the police force, and it was alleged by the prosecutor that while he was confined in a cell in the lock-up, the defendant struck him with a mace. The facts, as developed, were as follows:

The prosecutor was some time since arrested and placed in a cell in the lock-up on a charge of drunkenness. There was another man in the cell with him, whom, it appears, he beat and abused, and some one of the officers went into the cell and struck him. The jury, however, did not believe that the defendant had struck the blow and returned a verdict of not guilty, and directed the prosecutor to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs. James McFarland, indicted for assault and battery, Peter Baden prosecutor, was the next case taken up. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and recommended the defendant to the mercy of the Court.

Jane McDermott, indicted for illegal liquor selling, was arraigned and plead nolle contendere. Sentence suspended.

Michael McDermott, indicted for assault and battery, plead guilty. Sentence deferred.

The next case taken up was the Commonwealth vs. Peter Remlinger, indicted for assault and battery, Mary Fink prosecutrix. Verdict not guilty, defendant to pay costs.

Commonwealth vs. David Gilmore and David McCloskey indicted for laceny, Edward Rukert prosecutor, was next taken up. The prosecutor is a butcher doing business in South Pittsburgh, and he alleges that the defendants took from his wagon a pocket book containing from forty to fifty dollars. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The defendants were remanded to jail in default of bail in the sum of $1,000 each for their good behavior.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

The German Celebration—Meeting of Committees From the German Societies and the Sabbatarians—Moral Suasion is of no Avail.

A meeting relative to the proposed celebration of the Fourth of July by a portion of our German citizens, was held at Turner's Hall last evening, which was attended not only by those favoring the demonstration but also by the opposing element. It appears that the Committee appointed at the Preacher's meeting held in Dr. Clark's Church, Allegheny, recently, have since their appointment had several interviews with prominent Germans connected with the celebration movement, through whom an arrangement was made by which the Committee were to meet the Committee of Arrangements from the several German Societies which proposed to take part in the celebration. It was decided by the Germans to receive the anti-demonstration committee kindly and listen patiently to any arguments they might have to offer against the movement.

Before the meeting had been called to order, the Anti-Celebration Committee made their appearance in a body in the Library room, and were cordially received by the Germans assembled, after which the gentlemen separated, the Germans taking their places around a table.

The committees were composed of the following named gentlemen:

German Committee—Mr. Bauer, of the Volksblatt, Chairman, and Messrs. Hogleman, Nasser, Paulus, and six others whose names we could not ascertain.

Anti-Demonstration Committee—Messrs. Park, Hoskinson, Teal, Kim, McKnight, Torrence, Fleming, Slagle, Painter, Jennings, Leggate and Kirk.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Bauer, who, in the absence of the Secretary, read the minutes of the preceding meeting, which were adopted.

The Chairman then stated that there was a committee of gentlemen present who desired to have a friendly discussion upon the proposed celebration on Sunday, and asked if it was the pleasure of the meeting to hear them at that time or proceed first with its regular business.

On motion of Mr. Paulus, it was resolved to hear the Visiting Committee at once.

Mr. Park, Chairman of the Anti-Demonstration Committee, stated that the object of their visit was to hold a friendly discussion upon the subject of the proposed Sunday celebration. They came with the hope that the leaders of the movement might be prevailed on to defer the demonstration until Monday, or hold it on Saturday, as had always been the custom in this country when the Fourth of July occurred on Sunday. He referred to the cordial feeling existing between the German citizens and Americans by birth, and hoped it might continue to exist. He feared, however, that the proposed Sunday demonstration, if carried out, would have a strong tendency to destroy that good feeling which had always existed between the two classes of citizens. The opposition on the part of American citizens, he said, might be termed a prejudice, but admitting that it was, would it not be better to respect it than to stir up strife, opposition and contention.

At the conclusion of Mr. Park's remarks, Mr. Bauer inquired if there was any other gentleman of the Committee who desired to say anything.

Mr. J. S. Slagle briefly addressed the meeting, deprecating the movement, and hoped that his German friends might be induced to postpone the celebration to a later or hold it at an earlier day than on the Sabbath, as proposed. When Germans came to this country and became citizens, they should lay aside their prejudices and endevor to conform to the customs and laws of the country of their adoption.

Hon. Robert McKnight addressed the Society briefly, concluding his remarks by stating that the appeal to the Germans to defer the demonstration was not made in behalf of Christianity, but was made to them as American citizens and in behalf of Americans.

Mr. Bauer thought that the committee represented the preacher's meeting held in Allegheny recently, and the resolutions passed at that meeting were based on religious grounds. As I understand it, this committee represent the Christian element as opposed to the so called free-thinkers.

Mr. Louis Hager stated that fifty one Societies had determined to turn out on Sunday, and it was the settled purpose of the Germans engaged in the movement to have the celebration on that day.

At this announcement the Visiting Committee bid their German friends good-night and retired.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Green Eyed Monster.

The wrath of a woman, whose love has been turned to hatred through the influence of the "green eyed monster," is exceedingly great, and is only subdued when the object of her vengeance has been made to feel its power, or the jealous creature has been properly restrained by the strong arm of the law. Bartley Fox, having learned this fact by experience, appeared before Alderman McMasters yesterday and made information against Miss Kate Trimble for surety of the peace, alleging that she threatened to run a knife through him. It would appear, from the statements of the parties to this suit, that Mr. Fox had been paying his addresses to Miss Trimble, and that recently his attentions in that direction ceased. Whether Mr. Fox was seeking elsewhere for a fair companion does not positively appear, but it is certain that something in his conduct unsmothered a large amount of wrath in the bosom of Kate, which developed itself, greatly to the discomfiture of Mr. Fox. He asserts that while passing the house in which Miss T. resided, he observed that damsel on the door step with a plate in her hand, and when he arrived at a point nearly opposite the place where she stood, the plate was hurled at his head with greater force than precision. It missed its mark and was broken into fragments by striking against a house over the way. It was then, as the prosecutor alleges, that the defendant did threaten to run a knife throgh him; and he further states that he is afraid she will carry that threat into execution. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the injured woman.

A Fatal Dose.

John Boland, an engineer residing in Temperanceville, came to his death yesterday from the effects of an over dose of morphine, taken to allay a severe pain produced by a felon. It appears he had been suffering for several days and nights to such an extent as to deprive him of sleep, and the morphine was taken to enable him to sleep Tuesday night. A notice of his death was left at the Coroner's office, and, in the absence of that officer, Alderman Neeper answered the summons for the purpose of holding an inquest, but on arriving at the residence of the deceased found that Justice Kelly had officiated for the Coroner. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts stated. The deceased was about forty-five years of age, and leaves a widow and three children.

Millvale Borough Council, Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Council of Millvale Borough was held on Monday evening, June 21, 1869, Burgess Williams presiding.

Members present: Messrs. Brown, Dempsey, Coates, McConnell, Segebronck and Evans.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Chairman stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of electing borough officers.

On motion the Council proceeded to the election of officers, with the following result:

Treasurer—Thomas McElroy.
Clerk of Councils—C. A. Burrows.
Solicitor—A. H. Collier, Esq.
Collector—A. McF. Johnson.
Street Commissioner—Thos. McElroy.
Messenger to Councils—Theo. Kleiber.
Wharf Master—Josiah Riley.
Constable—Theodore Kleiber.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

The Burgess announced the following Standing Committees:

On Finance—Messrs. McConnell, Evans and Segebronck.

On Streets—Messrs. Coates, Demsey, and Evans.

On Ordinances—Messrs. Brown, Coates and Segebronck.

On motion, Mr. Brown was appointed a Committee to ascertain from the Borough Solicitor whether the law requires the publication of ordinances in the newspapers.

A communication from Mr. Chris. Cook, relating to the "filling up" of Lincoln avenue at the bridge across Girty Run, was received and referred to a special Committee (Mr. Segebronck) with instructions.

On motion, the Burgess was appointed a committee to procure a site for a watch-house.

On motion, the regular night of meeting was fixed on the first Wednesday of each month, at 7 o'clock P. M., sharp.

On motion, adjourned.

Class Day Exercises.

The graduating class of the Western University held their Class Day Exercises in the Chapel of the University yesterday afternoon. Before the time announced, the hall was well filled by an appreciative audience, among whom we noticed many ladies. The members of the class of "69" emerged from the Irving Society room and took their places on the stage, arrayed in their commencement gowns. Mr. H. M. Preston was master of ceremonies, and conducted the exercises in a graceful and easy manner. The first performances was a history of the class of "69" by Mr. G. K. Miles, the numerous and telling hits of this gentleman on the members of the class were loudly applauded. Next followed a burlesque poem in commemoration of a visit to the observatory, read by Mr. H. F. Hughes. The Class Oration was delivered by Mr. J. A. Watt, and elicited much applause. Mr. C. C. Dickey then delivered the prophecy of the future career of the members of the class and also of some of the faculty. This performance was most admirably written and took the audience by storm. A wooden spoon was then presented to Mr. Dickey from the class. The presentation was delivered by Mr. H. T. Morris in a happy manner, and was responded to by the recipient. The last exercise was the presentation of a beautiful pipe to Peter, the janitor of the University. It was presented by Mr. Hughes, on behalf of the class, and Prfessor E. P. Crane responded on behalf of the Faculty. It was altogether a pleasant occasion to all concerned, as the frequent applause of the audience testified. The music was furnishen by the Iron City Brass Band, under the drection of Julius Moore.

Second Avenue Again.

Second Avenue, it would appear, is unfortunately located and is doomed to be a source of trouble to city and citizens until the end of time, or until Boyd's hill is leveled down, which from present indications will be when the "last trump" has been sounded, making confusion more confounded and chaos takes the place of order. We have frequently called the attention of the Sreet Commissioner to matters concerning this Avenue, and we find that in most instances he is in no way responsible for the condition of affairs, but on the other hand has always been prompt in repairing every damage and removing all obstructions from the street.

The last complaint of the citizens residing on the avenue is, that during the recent rains the street was submerged in mud washed from the hill side. For this the contractors for the grading and paving of Bluff street, it appears, were responsible, and the Street Commissioner, we are informed, intends to make them foot the bill for removing the dirt from the street. It is alleged that in removing the dirt from the street they were grading they dumped it over the side of the hill in gullies formed by the water which during heavy rains rushes down in perfect torrents, and it was consequently washed down on Second avenue.

Alleged Forgery.

An information was made before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, by C. Zeisaler, charging J. Mollchstieker with forgery. The parties are both lager beer venders, and it appeared that the prosecutor had a running account at the brewery, at which he dealt, sending his orders for beer and settling his bills quarterly. At the end of the last quarter, when his bill was sent in, he thought it unusually large, and having kept an account himself of the amount of beer sold, compared the two and found that he was charged with double the quantity of beer he had received. He then requested to see the orders upon which the beer had been furnished, and upon examination discovered that although they all bore his name and were apparently correct, over one-half of them were forgeries. It was alleged that the defendant had presented the orders and hence the prosecution. A warrant was issued.

Entered Bail.

John Atchie, charged before the Mayor on oath of Richard Dunton with aggravated assault and battery, gave bail for his appearance at Court, yesterday. The difficulty out of which this case originated occurred at Mansfield on the 13th inst., when it appeared that the parties got into a fight, during which Atchie was cut with a knife and seriously injured. The day following the difficulty Dunton made information before the Mayor charging Atchie with assault and battery. A warrant was issued and an officer went to Mansfield to arrest Atchie, but found him in bed and unable to travel.

Atchie, we are informed, has made information before a justice at Mansfield charging Dunton with felonious assault and battery.

81 Market Street.

We desire to call the attention of our lady readers to the large and well selected stock of trimmings, lace goods, hosiery and gloves at the ladies' emporium of W. W. Moorhead, 81 Market street, and advise them to call and examine it, whether they desire to purchase or not. It is always a pleasure to examine fine goods, and the gentlemanly salesmen at this establishment deem it a pleasure to exhibit goods. The stock has been selected with great care by Mr. Moorhead in person, who purchases from first hands in the East, and is thereby enabled to sell at prices much below those who purchase from jobbers and brokers and consequently have to pay more for their goods. The latest styles in all lines of goods may be found at 81 Market street as soon as they appear in the Eastern market.

Queensware.

The idea formerly existing that a first class article of Queensware could not be manufactured on this side of the ocean, has been most completely exploded, by S. M. Kier & Co., proprietors of the Keystone Pottery, No. 363 Liberty stret, by the production of a ware from their manufactory in this city, equal, and in many respects superior, to the best Liverpool ware ever improted. For strength, durability and beauty of finish, the Keystone Pottery ware is unrivalled. It is manufactured in all the latest designs and after the latest patterns, and finished in any manner desired. Owing to the fact that this ware can be purchased from 20 to 25 per cent. cheaper than the imported ware of the same quality, it is almost entirely superceding the latter. Dealers should call and examine it.

Books and Stationery.

The well-known and long established Book and Stationery Depot of Col. J. D. Egan, on Sixth avenue, near Smithfield street, continues to enjoy that liberal share of public patronage the Colonel so justly merits, and which it will ever enjoy so long as it is well conducted. His stock of books, both new and second hand, is one of the largest in the city, and comprises all the modern works of popular authors, including the latest approved text books for schools, library books for Sunday schools, &c. An endless variety of stationery of every description, including note and letter paper, envelopes, &c., of the latest style, is included in the stock. All the late periodicals and magazines are kept for sale.

To The Public.

We desire to call the attention of our numerous readers, and particularly that portion of them who use or deal in tobacco, snuff and cigars, to the large and well selected stock of these articles at the establishment of Mr. John Megraw, No. 45 Hand street, as they will doubtless find it a matter of considerable importance to them to call and examine it before making purchases elsewhere. Mr. Megraw is an experienced tobacco dealer, and his reputation for honesty and fair dealing is beyond reproach. Persons in need of any article generally kept in a first-class store, will find it at No. 45 Hand street, where all articles in that line of trade can be purchased at prices which defy competition.

First Class Establishment.

The Continental Dining Room, of which Mr. Holtzheimer is proprietor, is beyond all question the leading establishment of its character in the city. During the warm weather the large proportion of our business men who reside in the country, and in order to escape the beat and discomforts of a drive home, take their dinners in town, patronize this old and well conducted establishment, first, because the rooms are always clean, cool and comfortable, and second, because they can be supplied with every delicacy of the season, as well as the substantials, prepared in a manner which defy competition.

This was attended with the most intense pain in all parts of the body.
